ABSTRACT

A temporal address unit obtains data transmitted from a spatial data storage using one or more temporal addresses. The temporal address unit obtains the data in response to a request for a content.